SILVER REPUBLICANS INDORSE THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The Populists Are Expected to Follow Suit Within Two or Three Weeks-Testerday, However, They Refused to Hold Any Further Conference With the Democrate.

KANSAS CITY, July 7 .- The Populist National Committee has adjourned without accepting Adlai E. Stevenson in place of Charles A. Towne as their Vice-Presidential candidate to run with Mr. Bryan. It is expected. however, that the Populists will within the next two or three weeks decide that their only course is to accept Stevenson. This was the opinion expressed to-day by Chairman James K Jones of the National Democratic Committee. After the conference last night between the representatives of the Democrats, the Populists and the Silver Republicans, the Populist Committee reported back to the Populist National Committee, which met at midnight, and a resolution was adopted declaring that Towne should stay on the Populist ticket for Vice-President. Then Tom Patterson of Denver moved that a committee be appointed to confer this morning with a like committee from the Democrats and Silver Republicans. This was defeated by a vote of 22 to 8. Gen. James B. Weaver of Iowa and Mr. Patterson then were appointed a committee to notify the Democrats that they would hold no further

The Silver Republican National Committee has already indorsed Bryan and Stevenson. Chairman Jones and the leading Silver Republicans believe that before the month is out the Populists will be working in entire harmony with them and that the Populist National Committee will accept Mr. Towne's declination of their Vice-Presidential nomination, which he is expected to make soon, and indorse Stevenson. On account of the peculiar conditions existing in some of the States where Populism is rampant, the Populist National Committee think it would be unwise to too hastily surrender their own Vice-Presidential candidate. The Democratic National Committee held a two-hour session this morning and then adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair. A resolution was adopted authorizing the issue of an address to the people of the country as to the platform. Most of the time of the National Committee this morning was spent in conferring with the Silver Republicans. Gen. James B. Weaver of Iowa, J. H. Edmunston and T. M. Patterson of Denver were also present at the meeting on behalf of the Pop-After the conference ended it was stated that eventually the Populists would take the same action regarding the Democratic ticket as had the Silver Republicans, and that the Populists would soon designate the three members of the special campaign committee of nine which the National Democratic Committee last night authorized Chairman Jones to appoint, in order that a joint campaign committee might get to work along the same lines, with representatives of the three parties upon it. The Silver Republicans already have named D. C. Tillottson of Kansas, ex-Senator Dubois of Idaho and Senator Teller of Colorado to represent that party on the Democratic Joint Campaign Committee

The statement was made that the three Populists who attended the Democratic-Silver Republican conference this morning assured the Democratic National Committee that the Populists would accept Stevenson in all of the States except Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota, where the Populist vote is unusually big and where the Populist leaders fear that the straight indorsement of the Democratic candidates would jeopardize the success of Populist candidates in those States. Ex-Senator Dubois believes that the Populists finally will also accept Stevenson in the three States mentioned.

When Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota. who is one of the chief Populists here, heard of the representations made by Messre. Tillottson, Patterson and Edmunston to the Democratic National Committee this morning, he said that they were authorized to represent the purpose of stating that the Populists had no desire to confer further with the Demo-

While I believe that the Populists will accede to Mr. Towne's withdrawal as their candidate for Vice-President," said Mr. Pettigrew, such a determination may not be reached by the Populists for three or four weeks yet. The Democratic platform is a good one and the candidates are ideal. It would seem that no other course is left the Populist party but to accept the action of the Democratic National Convention in full. Mr. Towne will not withdraw as our candidate for Vice-President until we tell him to. That such an occasion will arise I have no doubt."

In response to an invitation from Col. Bryan, Mr. Towne and George Fred Williams left this afternoon for Lincoln. After their conference with Mr. Bryan something definite may be expected regarding Mr. Towne's con tinuing as the Populist candidate for Vice-President. The Populists say they are powerless to substitute Stevenson for Towne if the latter should withdraw from the ticket.

NEBRASKA POPS. DISAPPOINTED. They Fear the Nomination of Stevenson Will Be a Death Blow to Fusion.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 7.—The nomination of Stevenson for the Vice-Presidency has sent a gloom of disappointment over the Fusion eaders of Nebraska. Through the nomination of Charles A. Towne by the Democratic party they had hoped to bring about a harmonious fusion of the anti-Republican forces in Nebraska for the State and Presidential campaign, but their hopes have been dissipated by the action of the convention at Kansas City.

State officials and other prominent Nebraska Fusionists were outspoken to-day in their disapproval of the nomination of Stevenson. and some of them even went so far as to pre dict an increase in the Middle-of-the-Road vote as a consequence of the turning down of Towne. Bryan is looked upon as the only salvation for fusion in Nebraska, and the Popocrate, who are apprehensive of trouble, maintain that all local interests will be subordinated to his candidacy and that he will be strong enough to carry the State ticket through with him. "Anyway, this is the last year of fusion in Nebraska," said one of the State officials. Personally he thought the nomination of Stevenson was well nigh a death blow to the Populist party and fusion.

"That the Populists will be dissatisfied cannot be disputed," he continued. "They went to Sloux Falls and nominated a Democrat because they knew he would be nominated by the Democratic party, and another man for the Viceparty would be recognized by the Democrats in the selection of a Presidential ticket. The Populists have been completely turned down and they will naturally feel a little sore. They will not have to bolt the party, for the bolt has already been organized. The Middle-ofthe Roaders have a good organization all over the State. They are about to hold a State convention, and when you come right down to the facts, the Middle-of-the-Roaders are about all that is left of the Populist party. In one sense the nomination of Stevenson may be considered as an insult to the Populists, and they will not be long in coming to this

"I don't know what effect the nomination of Stevenson will have on the situation here in Nebraska," said Gov. Poynter this after-"The nomination of Stevenson is as good as the nomination of any Democrat would have been. I think the Populists of Nebraska were expecting the nomination of Towne, and I haven't had time to consider what effect

Stevenson's nomination will have." Secretary Gilbert L. Laws of the State Board of Transportation took a rather gloomy view of the situation. "I think the nomination of Stevenson will have an injurious effect on fusion and will increase the Middle-of-the-Road vote, but not enough to defeat the elec-

Secretary Fred Jewell, when asked what effect the nomination of Stevenson would have on the fusion situation, said:

"I think it will be pretty tough on it. I am afraid we will have more trouble to fuse than we would have had with Towne as the nominee of the Democratic party, but I think we will succeed in bringing the parties together after all. The Populists and the Silver Republi cans stand for principles, and their local interests are secondary to the interests of Bryan. Deputy Secretary of State O. C. Weesner, who is a Populist candidate for Secretary of State, anticipates trouble at the coming con-

SILVER REPUBLICAN ADDRESS

It Favors the Democrats Because They Are for Free Silver and Against Trusts, &c. KANSAS CITY, July 7 .- The Silver Republican National Committee to-day issued the following address:

To the Silver Republicans of the United States: "The Democratic National Convention of 1900 has nominated William J. Bryan for Pres ident and Adlai E. Stevenson for Vice-Presi The Silver Republican National Convention of 1900 has nominated William J. Bryan for President and referred the matter of candidate for Vice-President to its National Committee, with power to act. Your committee has carefully considered the whole matter. It met in conference with represen tatives of the Democratic and of the People's ground fully. Your committee found itself face to face with these facts:

"In 1886 thousands of voters who had theretofore voted the Republican ticket found themselves so widely at variance with their party's platform that they could not, without self stultification, longer act with the Republican party. In that year they found in the Democratic candidate for President, and in the platform upon which he stood, a complete and sufficient justification for giving him their hearty support. With him they went to defeat, but in that defeat won a victory for manhood and patriotic independence for which they have no apology to offer and in which they feel a just pride. They retain and preserve their right to vote as their conscience and their judgment dictate. They bow to no party boss, and have not abdicated their right to think.
"In 1896 the Republican party made a sec-their judgment dictate. They bow to no party boss, and have not abdicated their right to think.

"In 1896, the Republican party made a profound departure from the traditions and interests of the American people and of that party by rejecting the free coinage of silver along with gold, and placing itself in a position to adopt the gold standard. This year it has declared itself unreservedly for the gold standard. This continues the controversy of 1890. But in addition to its departure from the advocacy of bimetallism, it has now still more profoundly departed from the traditions and interests of the American people by becoming the apologist for and the champion of trusts and monopolies, and has introduced such imperialistic practices and theories into the administration of the affairs of government that for the first time in the history of that party its National Convention could not even refer to the Declaration of Independence, and this although its convention of 1900 met in such a place and within such an environment that the great Declaration would have peculiarly appealed to the party had it still listened to the voice that in that earlier and better day pleaded for a "government of the people, for the people and by the people."

"In the face of such profound departures from the traditions and interests of the American people we cannot return to the Republican party. On the other hand, we find the Demoican people we cannot return to the Republican party. On the other hand, we find the Democratic party has again placed itself right on the money question, right on the question of trusts and monopolies, right as the champion of the Declaration of Independence and of Constitutional government, right in expressing its sympathy for other nations who only ask that which ye would that others should do unto you, do ye even so unto them.

"The Democratic candidate for President is ours; our convention named him. Upon the fundamental propositions above stated we are one with the Democratic and the People's party. Our common candidate for President is enlysted, heart and soul, in this great cause. We know he has the high courage of his convictions. His triumph is necessary if we are to hand down to our children and our children's children a government founded in the wisdom of the fathers, maintained by the blood and treasure of its citizens and perpetuated as a priceless heritage.

"Impelled by these considerations, your National Committee has determined that its duty in this hour is to indorse the Hon. Addia E. Stevenson as our candidate for Vice-President, in order that the opposition to the gold standard, trusts and monopoles, imperialism and all its attendant evils may concentrate its votes at the danger point and accomplish the triumph of those principles so dear to us. It is but simple justice to say that in taking the action indicated we are following the advice of our distinguished leader, the Hon. Charles A. Towne. Let us express the hope that our friends will lay aside whatever of disappointment they may feel and join in a united effort to secure the triumph of our principles at the coming election.

CAMPAIGN OPENS IN THE SIST. Great Enthustasm for the Republican Can didates - Banner Raised. The Republican campaign in the Thirty-first seembly district opened last night with a torchlight parade and open air meeting. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and at one time the crowd around the platform at the corner of 127th street and Lenox avenue was so great that the police had to clear a way for pedestrians. The ratification was arranged by the members of the Central Republican Club. There was a band and led by it the members reënforced by about a thousand Republicans and independents who are going to vote the Republican teket this fall, marched up and down Lenox, Fifth and Seventh avenues, carrying torches and shouting cheers for McKinley and Roosevelt at the top of their lungs. They finally wound up in front of the clubhouse at 127th street and Lenox avenue, where a large platform had been erected. In a jiffy the platform was surrounded by one of the biggest crowds that ever attended an open air meeting in the district. Assemblyman Samuel S. Slater presided and made a brief speech in which he said that McKinley and Roosevelt represented protection, progress, the police had to clear a way for pedestrians. The speech in which he said that McKinley and Roosevelt represented protection, progress, prosperity and patriotism. He spoke strongly infavor of expansion, saying that the flag would never be hauled down in the Philippines, a sentiment which was shared by those in the crowd to judge by the applause with which Mr. Slater's utterances on the subject were greeted.

Senator John Ford made a speech in favor Senator John Ford made a speech in favor of expansion, too. Job Hedges, who also spoke, said that the Democratic party was part of the Almighty's infinite wisdom. The more it attacks the Republican party, he said, the better the Republican party becomes. Outside of the vaudeville stage, said Mr. Hedges, he had never seen anything funnier than the claims of the Tammany men that the people of New York are willing to be governed as they are. Speeches were also made by Alderman Goodman and A. H. Steele.

Just before the meeting ended a large banner bearing the pictures of the Republican candidates was raised in front of the clubhouse. The crowd cheered the pictures of

Where is the red fire and things which, if they were henest in their professions, would seem to be the appropriate thing just now. I've said enough for the present. MAKE AN END OF BRYANISM

GOLD DEMOCRATS GIVING IN THEIR ADRESION TO M'RINLEY. Talk of a Third Ticket Becomes Less and Less

-Views of Alexander E. Orr, Ex-President of the Chamber of Commerce, John E. Boose George G. Williams and S. G. Nelson Talk of a third ticket by those Gold Democrats in the East who helped put Palme and Buckner in the field in 1896, grows less and less every day, and the idea is growing that the duty of all good citizens, despite their political views, is to deliver a crushing blow t Bryanism by supporting the Republican national ticket. There are some Gold Democrats who still adhere to the belief that a third ticket is necessary, but they are in the decided minority and the chance of their wishes in the matter being carried out is slight. Alexander E Orr, Ex-President of the Chamber of Commerc and a Rapid Transit Commissioner, is the lates of the Gold Democrats to come out in open support of McKinley and Roosevelt. He said vesterday: "I am a Democrat and I have always voted the Democratic ticket when its principles and its candidates permitted me to do so. I cannot vote for Mr. Bryan, though, and the only course eft to me is to give my support to the Republican national ticket. The action of the Kansas City Convention has been very displeasing to me. It has reaffirmed the hideous Chicago platform-that embodiment of financial im morality and revolutionary violence-and it puts forward as the leader of Democracy the same voluble, shallow, fallacious and headstrong man. His will alone bas presented to the nation a clear-cut issue instead of one have had it. The american people ought to be grateful to him for that if for nothing else He could have done nothing more absolutely certain to insure his defeat and therefore all sound-minded citizens will thank him for hi unflinching adherence to his unspeakable

"The currency issue is the paramountissue no matter what certain Democrats who have not the courage of Mr. Bryan: say to the contrary. It is on the currency question that the battle will again be waged. Any attempt to force this issue to the rear will meet wit failure. And on that issue the so-called Demo-cratic party cannot hope for anything but overwhelming defeat. The financial and comcratte party cannot hope for anything but overwhelming defeat. The financial and commercial depression which prevailed in 1896, have passed away. Never has there been so much prosperity in all classes. All this success, national prosperity and satisfaction is the death knell of Bryanism, which grew out of and can only exist and fatten on dissatisfaction. It is almost incredible that the Democratic leaders could not foresee this and resist the manipulations of Bryan.

"I want to say one word on inperialism. I am one of those who believed that when Dewey smashed the Spaniards we should have been content to grab and hold one coaling station in those i lands. But I am not so blind that I cannot see that it is impossible for us to recede from the position that we have taken there without such a repudiation of words and deeds, without such loss of prestige, without such injustice to our own people, as would render it a wrong step for the nation to take."

Among the business men in this city there

Among the business men in this city there is but one opinion expressed as to the duty of a Gold Democrat in the coming campaign. Hardly a man can be found who believes in a third ticket. The sole idea is to give Bryanism its death blow by sweeping the Republican nominees into the White House by such a tremendous majority that those behind Bryan will never dare to spring him or his principles on the American people again. Tesident John E. Boone of the Colonial Trust Company said yesterday that he would vote for McKinley and Roosevelt. He used to be a Democrat, but Bryan and free silver, drove him out of the party. Mr. Boone said yesterday that there was no question about the result of the election.

"It will be the same as four years ago, only more so," was his comment.

Vice-President S. G. Nelson of the Scaboard National Bank is also going to vote for McKinley. "I agree with Mr. Hill," he said, "that the perils of imperialism are not so great as those of a dictatorship. I voted for McKinley in 1890 and I am going to vote for him again. Don't make any mistake, every vote will count. This is the time to give a correct and final answer to the question of an honest currency. The way for every honest man to answer it is to vote for the Republican ticket."

George G. Williams, President of the Chemical National Bank, used to be a Democrat, but will vote for McKinley and Roosevelt. Here is his comment on the doings at Kansas City.

"Sixteen to one tolls the knell of the Demo-

Sixteen to one tolls the knell of the Demo-And there are dozens of others who talk in the same way. The revolt against Bryanism among the business interests a the city is going to be an overwhelming one, and it is a question whether Bryan with Tammany Hall behind him will be able to make even a decent

SOUTHERN BOLT AGAINST BRYAN. 'Charlotte Observer," Most Influential Paper

In North Carolina, Will Not Support Him. CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 7.-Mr. J. P. Caldwell, editor of the Charlotte Observer, has bolted the Kansas City ticket and platform. The Observer is the most influential daily newspaper in the State and has a large circulation among the cotton mill and bank men and business men in general. The course of Mr. Caldwell has aroused storm in the State. He has received several hundred telegrams and letters congratulating him upon his stand. The action of the Observer will lose Bryan thousands of votes. Hear what Mr. Caldwell said editorially to-day:

"The Observer cannot support the candidate nominated or the platform promulgated at Kansas City. This is of no consequence to the candidate or the platform, but the decision is of much importance to the Observer. We are opposed to the free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and while there is little dange of this for four or six years to come, the perpetuation of the agitation for it is to be deprecated. The reaffirmation of the Chicago platform is general terms would have been bad enough, but its two most obnoxious features were singled out and emphasized when free silver and "government by injunction" were specifically dorsed. The latter is a bid, as it was in 1896, for the support of the lawless, and it is by far the most offensive plank in the platform to one who believes in the supremacy of the law and in upholding the hands of the courts. "The saying that the anti-imperialistic plank reserving that the anti-inpermissic plans presents the paramount issue does not make it do so and moreover the issue does not appeal to us. This country had no business in a war with Spain, but it got into one, and as a consequence certain territory fell under its control. It cannot shirk its obligations in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands if it wanted to.

"But it is not so much the platform that is to be feared as the man upon it. Mr. Bryan is essentially a dangerous citizen. He is an honest fanctic. Neither his ability nor his integrity is open to doubt. But he is radical, self-willed. headstrong, imperious, determined to have his way and determined if he cannot do so that the procession shall not move at all. His s not the wise way. "I don't think it is a very formidable ticket. It certainly wont attract votes in this State."
The Republican organization filed with the Police Board yesterday the minutes of the meeting of the County Committee at which Gen. Francis V. Greene was elected President.

BRYAN CONGRATULATED BY WIRE. Montana Delegates Rout Him Out at 2 A. M.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 7 .- Bryan's friends here are looking askance at Tammany. They endeavored while at Kansas City to be as fraternal as possible with the warriors and nothing less was expected than that Croker and some of the big chiefs would call on Bryan. In fact, the Bryanites are inclined to think Tamman displayed rather indecent haste in getting away. The only word that has so far come from the New York delegation to Mr. Bryan was conveyed in a telegram sent to-day from

The Montana delegates routed Mr. Bryan up at 2 o'clock this morning and got a shor speech from him. Senator Clarks' son was it charge, and when the men demurred about holding the train, he told them to go on and he would hire another engine. Mr. Bryan was assured that he would get more than 8 per cent. of Montana's vote in November.

Mr. Bryan was serenaded this afternoon by the returning delegations of 400 Nebraskans His costume was in strict accordance with the weather. He had neither hat nor waistcoat, and shook hands with all from the lower step of his porch. President Tompson of the Travelling Men's Club assured him of the united support of the commercial travellers of Nebraska. He said among other things in reply:

"I congratulate the State as well as myself on the delegation of sixteen that went to Kansas City to represent us in the National Democratic Convention. I want to assure you that I would rather have you in your plain clothes officiate at my inauguration than uniformed soldiers. Not but what a certain number of soldiers are all right in their place, but the of soldiers are all right in their place, but the resource of this nation is her men wio are willing to work and fight between times. No party ever adopted a platform better than that adopted at Kansas City. It is plain and explicit on every subject. Four years ago there were those who went out from the convention to work against the ticket, and this year the hall had to be enlarged to admit those who wanted to come hack had to be enlarged to admit those who wanted to come back.

"The meeting at Kansas City was filled with enthusiasm that means good for the party, and you all reflected credit on the people you represented. In this campaign we have at issue the principles which lie at the basis of our Government. The fight this year will be to carry out the sentiment of that song you so often repeated: My Country, Tis of Thee. If we lose, our children will never succeed to the spirit of that song, and celebrations of the Fourth of July will pass, for the spirit of empire will be upon us."

Mr. Bryan was provoked to-day to read a fletitious interview sent out from Kansas City to Eastern newspapers purporting to quote

The interview, which was a lengthy one, covers persons and public questions. To-day Mr. Bryan said that he had been misrepresented and misquoted himself, as are other public men, but he thought the children should be spared. The interview, he said, was entirely without foundation.

STEVENSON CONGRATULATED.

Telegrams Pouring in From Democrats, Includ-MINNETONRA BEACH, Minn., July 7.-For the past twenty-four hours the telegraph operator at Minnetonka Beach has been one of the busiest men in the United States. Messages of congratulation for Adiai Steven on, Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee, have been piling on over the wire in quick succession. One of the earliest messages came from William J. Bryan, while Carter Harrison and D. B. Hill wir d their felicitations and promises of support Chairman J. K. Jones sent a similar message, coupled with the announcement that he would arrive at Minuetonka some time next week to visit his daughter, Mrs. Plant. All the Illinois delegates to Kansas City sent individual congratulatory message, as did also those from New Yor .. As yet Mr. Stevenson has received no formal word as to when he is to be officially notitied of his nomination. This will probably be done next week, however. It may be that local Democrats will grasp the opportunity to give the event wider significance by attaching to it a social feature. It has been suggested that a reception. at which the faithful could meet Bryan's running mate personally and hear a few words from him and other party leaders who will be here, would be entirely appropriate and possibly be of political value. As any rate some kind of a reception will be given, whether in connec-tion with the notification or not.

a reception will be given, whether it connection with the notification or not.

To arrange for this event the Democratic committee, headed by Elijah Barton, went to Minnetonka B-ach this afternoon to consult Mr. Stevenson. Other visitors at the Hardin cottage were few. R. R. Odell, a personal friend of Mr. Stevenson, this afternoon expressed his willingness to convey and introduce a celegation bearing congratulations, but the general recling seemed to b- that Mr. Stevenson had come here for rest and was entitled to it. Mr. Stevenson told the committee this afternoon that he could make no promises regarding a reception till he had seen Chairman Jones.

THE "ST. PAUL GLOBE" BOLTS.

Refuses to Support Bryan and Stevenson and Go Down to Democratic Defeat. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—The St. Paul Globe, the only Democratic daily in the twin cities and the leading Democratic paper of Minnesota, has hol ed the Democratic national platform and candidates. A more complete repudiation could hardly be found than in the Globe's editorial article this merning. It says. under the caption, "A Crime Repeated:"

"The St. Paul Globe is now, has always been and will remain a Democratic paper. It has never compromised its convictions on questions of large public or party concern, and never intends to do so. A lapse of four years finds the Democratic rares of the country confronted by the same peril which proved its undoing in 1896. How does it meet the emergency? By once more embracing the danger and adopting the folly and fals shood under the burden of which it had been brought to the bor-burden of which it had been brough, to the borders of refut; its last national campaign.

"The Globe to-day stands where it stood four years ago. It is now, as it was then opposed to the free-coinnge idea. It gave, xpress on to its opposition to en. Right principles and air dealing with its jurty resciates and with the country demand that it give expression to it row. There is less, if possible, to justify compromise or condonnement now than there was then. The party went blindly to its late then; it goes now open-eyed and because of its domination by one man.

"It lies in the mouth of no Democrat who accepts the dictation which forced the 16 to 1 folly into his national piatform to say aught against the accepted control of the Republican National Convention by Senator Hanna of Ohio. The teontrol at least led in directions which pointed toward possible success. The control of William J. Bryan which, under threat of withdrawal, force: the free silver falsehood down the throat of the Kansas City Convention, points to a tathway already travelled over in the journey to Democratic defeat and disaster. This pathway the Giobe refused to follow. It refuses to support the candidates of a convention which seeks through cowardly evision to win the support of those whom it leared to openly challenge."

The most observed man among the many hundreds who came in on the different trains from Kansas City was David Bennett Hill, who was attended by a coterie of politicians from Albany and New York State. As he passed from the train to the check room Mr. Hill was greeted with loud applicuse by delegates and citizens who recognized him. He paid no atter tion to the general acclaim, but proceeded to get breakfast in the dining room as quickly as

"What do you think the result in the East will be?" Mr. Hill was asked as he was waiting for his breakfast. "I shall have to get back there and look over the field before I can tell," was the reply. "What about the prospects generally?" "Well, it is really too early to make predictions. The horses have only started.'

"What about the cand dates?" "I regard the ticket as a very strong one." "Do you think it is the strongest that could have been named with a view to the vote of Eastern States?" "I think it is a very strong ticket," was all th ex-Senator would say.

When asked his opinion of the platform, Mr Hill said: "I would have ; referred that modifications be made in the platform, but I have accepted the result, and from now on I will te

After shaking hands with President O. L. Whitelaw, he was escorted to the directors' room, where he held a short levee. Passing back into the hall he was beseiged by members who sought to grasp his hand, and there was continuous applause and calls for a speech. When the party had succeeded in forcing its way to the rostrum, President Whitelaw said: "Gentlemen: During the week there has been a great convention held in our State. Protably some of you may have heard of it. There were a number of distinguished men there. We have with us to-day a man who, in my opinion, was the most distinguished at that gathering. He has done us the honor to call on us. I take great pleasure in introducing ex-Senator Hill of New York."

In response Senator Hill said:
"Mr. Presid int and Gentlemen: Your President has said that I have returned from a convention where there were some distinguished men; and, I may add, probably there were some who were extinguished. I may be pardoned for saying that possibly theing to the latter class. [Cries of "No, No."] I am briefly passing through your city en route to God's own country in eastern New York. I am reminded that this is the hall in which Samuel J. Tilden was nominated in 1876. That was the first convention to which I was elected a delegate; but I was unable to attend on account of pr. fessional engagements. The marvellous growth of the country is shown by the fact that this hall, which in 1876 was used for holding a National Convention would now be totally inadequate to accommodate the representative of either of the great parties in convention assembled. "We are proud, all of us, that we belong to this great, growing and pros; erous country. We hope prosperity will continue, we hope that contenturent will everywhere prevail. I desire to say that this is my first visit to St. Louis. I have seen your heautiful building. hope that contentment will everywhere prevail. I desire to say that this is my first visit to St. Louis. I have see n your beautiful buildings, your beautiful streets, your magnificent railroad depot, one of the finest I ever saw, and I am greatly impressed with the largeness of this areat city of the Southwest. Everything seen stoby done on a large scale in this great and glarious country of the South. And now I desire to thank you, the President of this association, Gov. Francis and others for escoriing me to this place that I may see face to face the business men of St. Louis. I am glad to meet you; and upon your conservatism, upon your loyalty, upon your patriotism much depends for the security of our institutions. And now, as my time is very much fimited, I again express my pleasure for this opportunity of seeing you, and will journey much limited, I again express my pleasure for this opportunity of seeing you, and will journey on to the further East."

At the conclusion of the speech there was again a storm of applause, and Mr. Hill was aimost carried off his feet when he left the platform. He remained in the centre of the floor, shaking hands until reminded that the time to catch his train was approaching. catch his train was approaching

HEBREW BAKERS STRIKE. One Thousand Quit Work to Compel the Enforcement of the Ten-Hour Law. A general strike ordered by the Hebrew Bakers' Union for the ten-hour work day, involving 200 bakeries and about 1,000 bakers, went into effect yesterday mor, ing. The district affected by the strike is between Cherry and Tenth streets, east of the Bowery. A large ; roportion of the bakeshops are cellar bakeries where only one or two bakers are employed. According to the strikers they were working sixteen and seventeen hours a day and warned sixteen and seventeen hours a day and warned the employers of the demand. The immediate effect of the strike was a temporary scarcity of bread and a run on the grocery stores, which are suppled by large takeries not affected by the strike. The strikers held a mass meeting yesterday at 142 E sex street where a strike committee was appointed. Max Jacobowitz, secretary of the union, is the leader of the strike.

The State Factory Inspector and his deputies are charged with the enforcement of the tenhour law in the bakeshops. The union thought the Factory Inspection Department too slow in enforcing the law and the strike was the result.

CURA'S CHARITY HOMES.

Gen. Wood Names a Commission to Amalga mate and Reorganize Them.

Special Cab'e Despatch to THE SUN HAVANA, July 7.-Eleven commissioners, one for each province and five for the island at large, have been appointed by Governor Gen eral Wood to superintend the charity institutions of the island. At present these institutions are scattered and small ones are in existence in many places.

The idea of the commission is to try and amaigamate the small institutions into two large bomes which are to be established in Havana, one for boys and one for girls. These homes will be both reform and industrial schools where orphans and waifs will be fitted to earn their own living. After the chi dren have received an education they will be sent out to work on the sugar estates and farms. When these charities have been properly arranged it s believed that the funds will be ample for the purposes required. Over $14,000,000 are now at the disposal of the commission.

An agricultural home will al o be established.

MAY SUE FOR THE KAISER'S PRIZE. Philadelphia Singers Think They Wronged Out of Two Points.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The silver statue awarded by Kaiser Wilhelm as a trize to the best of the German singing societies will probably be the subject of litigation. President Arno Leonhart of the Junger Maennerchor Society of this city said that he had testimony that would prove that the vote originally taken by the judges gave 139 points to Philadelphia and that therefore the prize should have come here. Influential members of the Arion Society of Brooklyn, he said, prevaled after the vote upon one of the judges to withdraw two points he had given to Philadelp ia, thereby making both Brooklyn and Philadelphia receive 137.

ooth Brooklyn and Philadelphia receive 137 points. This vote was allowed to stand, it being determined that each society should hold the prize a year and a half.

An investigation is now being made to determine whether witnesses can be secured to substantiate the claim of the Philadelphia society, and if they can, and the Brooklyn organization refuses to surrender the trophy, the courts will be asked to award the prize. It was said at the office of the society that there was no truth in the report that it contemplated withdrawing from the Saengerbund.

NATIONALIST ATTACKS DO NOT DIS COURAGE M. WALDECK-BOUSSEAU.

But for the Crisis in China All Eyes Would Be Turned Toward France, Where the Political Situation Is Grave-Army Sedition Against the Republic-Only a Leader Lacking.

Special Cubie Lespotch to THE SUN. Paris, July 7 - The disgraceful scene in the Chamber of Deputies last evening, when the Premier was actually threatened with personal violence, is symptomatic of the gravity of the political situation in France. But for the grave crisis now affecting the whole civilized world individually and collectively, all eyes would turn to Paris. All the speculation is centred on the question of what will be the outcome of the present anti-republic movement. The violence in the Chamber and the resignations of Gens. Delanne and Jamont, two of the highest officials next to the Minister of War, simply because they disapproved of the latter's appointment of three officials under Delanne, are all directly attributable to the Nationalist movement, which is nothing more nor less than sedit on against the Republic. Premier Waldeck-Rousseau himself stated as much in the Senate on July 4. when he declared that Gen. Bruzere, who succeeds Gen. Delanne "would be a claimed if to love for the Armythe did not join devotion to the Republic ' Here the Premier puts the political condition of France in a few words. The contest between the Government and its opponents has the Republic as the stake. Already during the contest the Government has sustained a series of shocks which amount to a continuous premeditated attack such as would have overturned any Cabinet in the past thirty years. Fortunately for France Premier Waldeck-Rousseau is a strong man and, in his own words, "in G n. Franklin Bell will succeed Gen. Williston | not the sort that is intimedated or discour

While the Nationalists are forced to use every party which can be marshalled against the followed by their own disinteg ation, owing to internal quarrel 1 ig; still, such a condition cannot but be fraught with the gravest danger if the Nationalis s succeed in converting into a tool a prominent soldier sufficiently reckless to do the bidding. The present attitude of Delan . and Jamont shows the spirit of the pronusciamento, which would convert the army into a despotic ruler of the country it was meant to protect. Once that was effected the army leader would be the country's master which loyal Republicans recognize would lead
